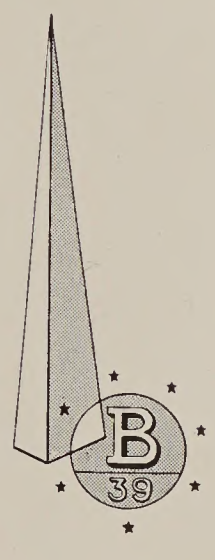
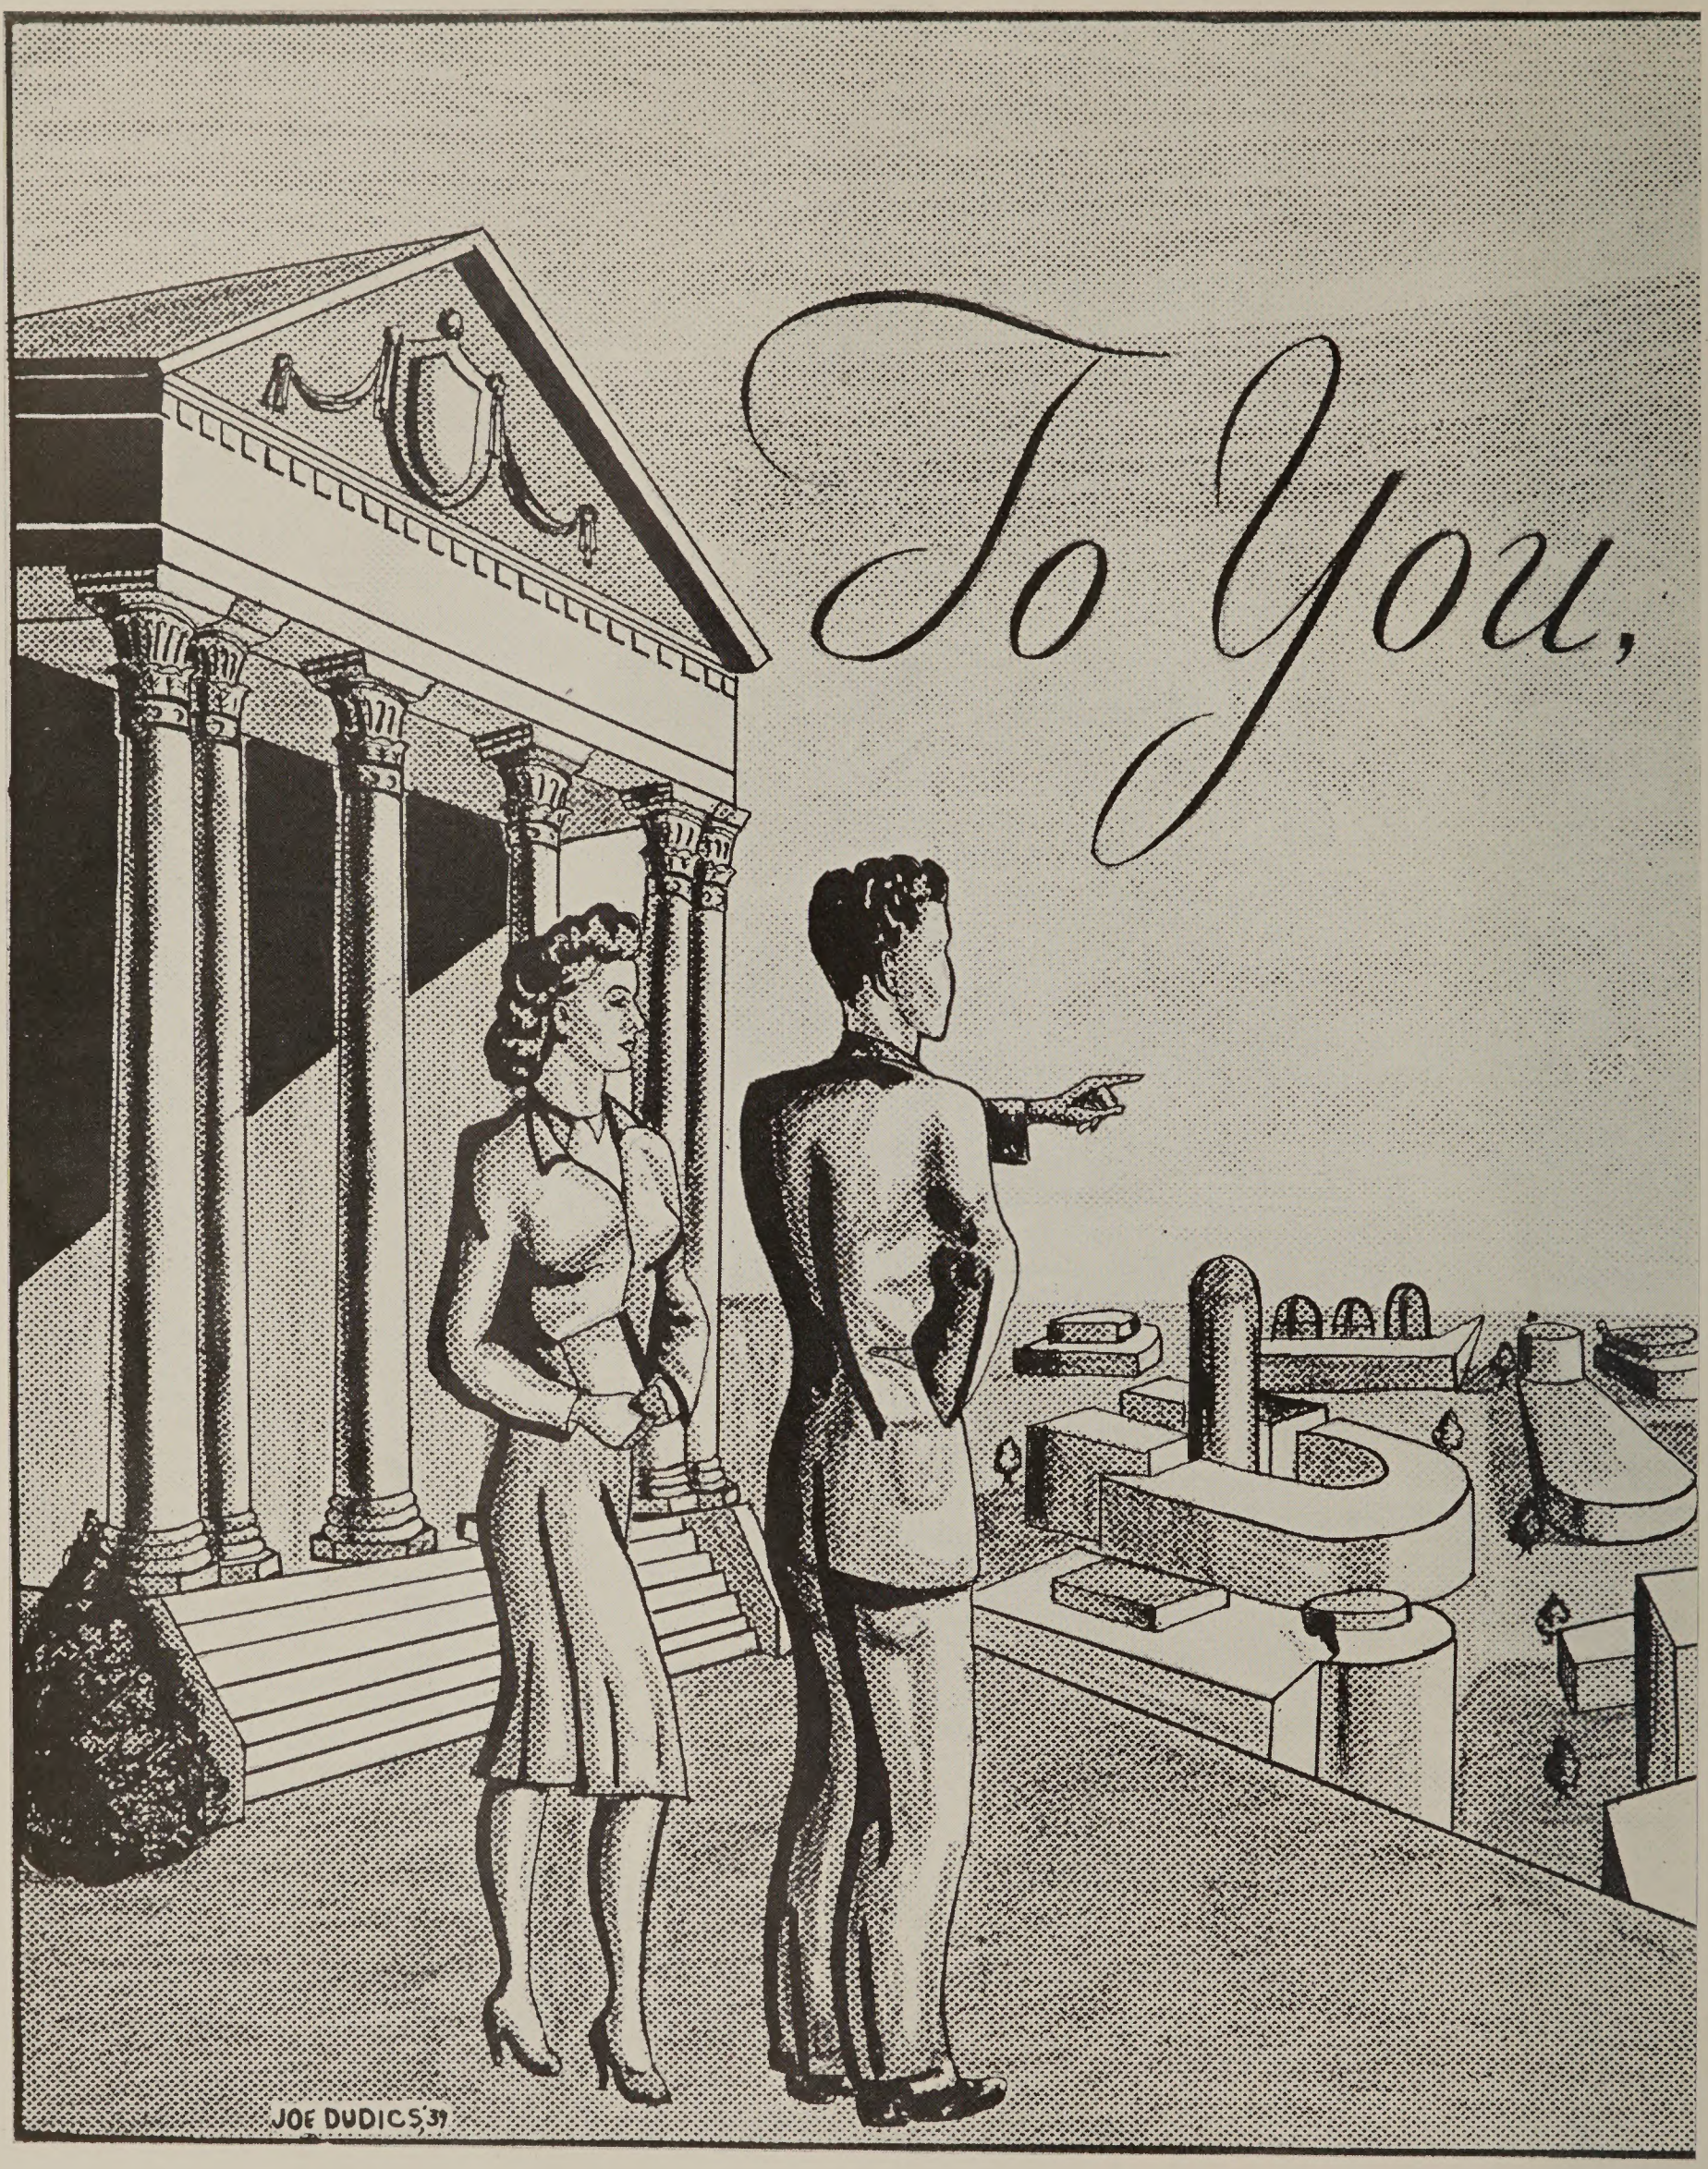
THE VOICE

June Nineteen Thirty-Nine



BASSICK HIGH SCHOOL

BRIDGEPORT, CONNECTICUT



To You,
JOE DUDICS '39

THE STUDENT OF TO-DAY, WHO WILL
BUILD THE WORLD
OF TOMORROW

CLASS HYMN

We lift our voices, proud and strong,
On this our joyous day of days;
Long may the echo of our song
Resound afar in Bassick's praise.

Although we turn our steps away,
Forever will our hearts remain
Through all the years, just as today,
A part of Bassick's glorious name.

The Student Council

Each home room president is a member of the Bassick Student Council. This organization, headed by Mrs. Katherine F. Mullins, also counts among its members representatives from each club sponsored by the school.

Governed by parliamentary law, the Student Council discusses and votes on all problems brought to its consideration by its members. Another function of this student body is the granting and renewal of all club charters. Some work has been accomplished on a student handbook.

This year the Student Council is once more offering prizes at graduation to the boy and girl who have made the most improvement during their stay at Bassick.

All decisions made by the Council are for the welfare of the school and help to keep things moving smoothly. Thus difficulties are ironed out; and the students become acquainted with the running of an organization, a factor which will prove very useful in later life.

Senior Delegates

Each senior home room elects a delegate as representative at meetings held once a month with the class adviser and class officers. The group discusses class business and finances and plans activities.

All seniors are privileged to suggest ideas to these delegates, and the latter present them for discussion at executive meetings.

It is the duty of the delegates to keep home room members informed of social events planned. Enthusiasm, tact, initiative, prompt cooperation, and a strong sense of responsibility are traits on the basis of which senior delegates are chosen by their classmates.

SENIOR HISTORY

Excerpts from the Class Diary

September 9, 1936: We made all the errors that sophomores are prone to make—got lost, forgot how to eount, felt all of two inehes high and very insignifieant—just babes in the woods.

Oetober 28: You ean't keep a good elass down. Our dramatic talent sprouted at the Minstrels. Betty Griffin and Mary Reilly were outstanding—and were we proud!

November 26: We played Fairfield. We tied.

May 7, 1937: Our first class meeting. We have finally eome into our own with a elass organization and Mrs. Altman as adviser.

May 21: We eleeted our class officers: Edward O'Hara, president; Florence Eriekson, vice-president; Jaek Deeker, treasurer; Ethelyn Carlson, seeretary; Virginia De Pledge, direetor of social activities.

June 30: School is over today. Most of us have made the grade and feel that we need a vaeation.

September 8, 1937: The first day of sehool again. The sophomores look awfully small this year, and how ean anyone be so naïve!

Oetober 8: In order to make the sophomore girls feel more at home we gave them a soeial. The program was so stupendous that a deluxe produetion of "Romeo and Juliet" was only one part of it.

October 28: Our first danee—the Pumpkin Hop. We didn't get a ehance to dance very mueh beeause it took us so long to get up our eourage to ask a fellow junior to dance with us. Joe Devine did a right noble job as master of eeremonies.

November 26, 1938: We played Fairfield. We lost.

Deeember 14: From a weird eolleetion of eolor eombinations we finally settled on maroon and silver as our elass eolors.

February 2, 1938: The Junior Mothers' Tea. By some strange turn of events this eoineided with the giving of report eards. Our mothers and teaehers must have had plenty to talk about.

Mareh 23: We proudly ordered our class rings and pins.

April 19: All Girls' Day. We showed our athletie prowess and then caused great exeitement and eomment with our display of fashions. Jayne Henry was the hit of the show in a perfectly stunning ereation for beach wear—vintage 1900.

April 21: The first annual Question Bee. Besides all our other qualities we're brilliant, too. The Juniors won both prizes.

May 20: Junior Frolie. We had a really gala time and everyone looked very festive in the hats that were given away as favors.

May 25: We elected our class officers for the senior year.

June 27: The last day of school and we are actually seniors.

September 7, 1938: We're the seniors now and how difficult it is to realize that this is our final year. On looking over the new crop we find the sophomores smaller than ever. What is this school coming to!

October 14: We started our social season early under the leadership of Lorraine Rowe, chairman of social activities, with the Senior Frolic, a couple affair, and gave our jitterbugs a chance to "rise and shine."

October 22: We played football against Central and won. Our victory ended in quite a celebration (?).

October 29: We played Harding. We didn't mind losing the game, but we did mind losing Larry O'Day, who was injured.

November 24: We played Fairfield again and lost again. Fate indeed can be cruel.

December 15: We did our part nobly in the "Bassick Brevities."

February 9, 1939: Our senior play, "Growing Pains", was a tremendous success in every respect. Everyone raved.

February 15: We got our first true inkling that high school days are almost over when we were measured for caps and gowns today.

March 14: The G.A.L. "copped" the team prize in the National Honor Society's Question Bee. Those girls have both brain and brawn.

March 17: With narcissi and daffodils as decorations and a festive feeling of spring in the air we entertained for the senior girls, our mothers, and the faculty at our last tea.

April 14: We had the usual fun at All Girls' Day. The fashions were lovely.

May 18: It was hard to believe that this was our final class assembly. Even hearing final reports and speeches didn't make it any more real.

June 3: Class trip: A sail up the Hudson—West Point—dining and dancing—a truly memorable day.

June 9: Class Day. A lot of fun but in the back of our minds the persistent thought of farewell.

June 21: Our last social event—Prom—the pinnacle of our social success as a class.

June 23 and 26: Graduation: Our high school years, the most memorable and enjoyable years we have had thus far, are over.

Junior Class

The Class of 1940, sponsored by Miss Helen Prageman, was organized in May 1938, when it elected its officers and planned the class activities for the school year of 1938-39.

The first important Junior social event was the Armistice Dance, held on the afternoon of November 10, in the school auditorium, patriotically decorated in red, white, and blue.

On January 18, the Junior girls entertained at a Mothers' Tea. It was at this time that the class colors, royal blue and white, were first used.

Five weeks had hardly passed when once more the Juniors came into the spotlight. February 21 was the day of two outstanding events. In the morning there was an interesting lecture and demonstration of color at an assembly sponsored by the class, and in the evening the big Junior Dance. This dance became practically a gala school affair as each Junior invited a special guest.

Having met with such success during their Junior year, the members of the Class of 1940 are looking forward to a happy Senior year.

Prayer For Youth

Father of all, we love this life,
  Richly endowed with gifts from Thee.
Grant we may live it safe from strife,
  Live it in unity—happy, free!

Free to enjoy what Thou hast wrought,
  Beauties of land and sky and sea,
Happy in peace the world has sought
  Down through the ages of history.

Harmony of an ordered plan,
  Let us learn from Thy universe.
May the discord devised by man,
  Music of wind and rain disperse.

Cool and tranquil are moonlit lakes;
  Light the ripple of woodland rills.
Twilight's violet shadow makes
  Soft serenity on the hills.

Spring steps softly on leafy path;
  May we tread gently in others' lives.
Hush of Nature can still the wrath
  Roused in man as he fiercely strives.

Heat of sun on a summer shore,
  Crimson color in autumn trees,
South wind's warmth in the skies we soar—
  Warm our love and our sympathies.

Strength of body and strength of mind
  We may borrow from mountain peaks.
Roaming vastness of plains, we'll find
  New ideals, as Nature speaks—

Love of family, faith in friends,
  Trust in justice, belief in law;
Strength of will to achieve our ends,
  Hope in visions our fathers saw.

These are the things we ask of Thee.
  Guide our quest with a Master's touch;
Give us vision, Thy works to see—
  Father of all, do we ask too much?

PRODUCTION

Production—Construction—Experiment

The spicy fragrance of gingerbread from the kitchen, the not-so-enticing aroma of carbon tetrachloride emanating from the third-floor lab. The sonorous tones of a senior declaiming, "To be or not to be"—interrupted by the strains of My Reverie feelingly whistled by a sophomore to the rhythm of hammer and nails on sheet tin, one floor below Shakespeare. The thud of a basketball "dribbled" down the gym floor, the shrill whistle of the coach, the clang of a fire-alarm gong, the clatter of china and cutlery in the cafeteria. The tapping of silver dancing slippers on the stage and the odor of wet paint from new scenery in the wings. The creaking of springs as ten girls and boys climb into a 1930 Ford in the driveway. "Amo, amas, amat" in careful syllables from a Latin class; and a doubtful naming of the latest European boundaries, as heard through the open window of a history room. Whirr of electric sewing machine, rat-a-tat of a typewriter, moan of a saxophone, scratching of chalk on slate, hurrying footsteps, and laughter and song—Bassick at work and at play!

Physics Laboratory

The science department of Bassick is justly proud of its physics laboratory facilities. Guided by the head of the department, Mr. Frank M. Ham, the laboratory, one of the best equipped in the state, performs the duty of co-ordinating the theoretical side of the course with actual experience. Here, also, students learn valuable lessons in laboratory technique and practice which prove very valuable in college work and in later life. The class is shown here performing an experiment on the properties of heat.

Chemistry Laboratory

In chemistry "lab" students perform practical experiments which help to clarify much of the material in textbooks. This first-hand information is invaluable.

Twice a week each class delves into the secrets of inorganic chemistry, and budding chemists form here a firm background for future work in the ever-widening field of science.

Biology Laboratory

The laboratory work of the biology course is combined with the regular recitation periods. At present, there is no advanced class, but arrangements are being made to introduce a class next year. At that time, a number of valuable microscopes will be purchased.

One of the most interesting of the natural sciences, biology makes the study of actual specimens from nature an absorbing and inspiring pursuit.

Sewing Class

To the average girl on a limited budget, the ability to design and make her own garments is surely a practical advantage.

The girl who sews may possess a wardrobe more extensive and of better quality than if she depended entirely on "ready-mades."

In sewing classes a student is trained to choose patterns suited to her own individual type. She is taught to combine parts of several different patterns, at times, rather than to use one whole pattern which might not altogether please her. Hence, clothes with "personality"!

Miss Florence Huntress and Mrs. Cecile B. Church conduct the sewing classes at Bassick.

Home Planning

Home Planning, a course of many phases, is one which many girls elect because of its usefulness to them now and in the future.

Family relationships, personality traits, consumer education, and planning the home are studied. An important part of the course, child development, takes the students out of the classroom to visit nurseries and kindergartens in order to study the small child at work and play.

After completing this course with Mrs. Cecile B. Church the girls can better meet the problems which they will encounter as tomorrow's homemakers.

Home Nursing

The chief aim of this course is to train the students in the conservation and promotion of health. The girls are taught care of the sick, care of babies, the prevention of disease, and the essentials of nursing in the home.

Some of the subject matter treated deals with eminent leaders in science and medicine, and the history of nursing. Students become acquainted with the laws of health and their practical application to the well-being of individuals and of the community. The course is taught by Miss M. Olive Donnelly, R. N.

Cooking Class

An old saying, "Cooks are born, not made," has been proven false by cooking classes directed by Miss Alice Ballard and Miss Florence Huntress.

After studying the essentials of food preparation, canning, the effect food has on one's health, and the efficient purchasing of vegetables and meat cuts on a limited budget, the girls are ready to call themselves "good cooks."

Training in etiquette, table-setting, and serving is given in this valuable course for girls.

Art Class

Bassick art students, directed by Mr. Henry Walsh, seek to gain an understanding and appreciation of art through the use of all media available to the modern artist: water colors, oils, dry brush, charcoal, India ink, and many others. The students practice lettering and block printing as well as various forms of designing.

The art classes endeavor to integrate their efforts with numerous school activities by means of illustrations, posters, and displays. Many school functions are rendered more decorative with the aid of scenery made by this department.

Wood Shop

Boys studying Wood Shop, under the direction of Mr. John F. Buckley, have done several excellent pieces of work for the school this year. Most notable of these was the construction of the set for the Senior Play.

Students in wood-work are given the opportunity of working with tools, and of deciding whether they wish to do advanced work in this field. The course is exploratory and helps the boys determine the extent of their ability.

Whether or not they decide to make wood-working a vocation, they develop skills which prove useful in their own households.

Electrical Shop

Students in Electrical Shop, instructed by Mr. Warren Brown, are given a splendid opportunity to learn the fundamentals of work with electricity. The object of the course is to guide the boys in deciding whether they should continue in this line of work and also whether they possess the necessary talents.

The first years are devoted to simple problems in wiring, drawing, and cost computation.

This year the advanced classes were offered a special advantage; they worked on an actual automobile motor and learned the principles of timing, wiring, and simple repair work.

Metal Shop

Because of the ever-increasing use of metal in our everyday lives, the function of this course in training boys to use metals in their various forms is becoming more important. While self-expression does not appeal to some boys in academic subjects, they enjoy expressing their talents in handicrafts.

Among the articles made in the metal shop are weather-vanes, match boxes, lamps, and tools. The experience gained here is very valuable to students who wish to find work in the field of metals immediately after graduation.

Junior Traffic Commission

The Junior Traffic Commission, a member of a state-wide organization of school safety clubs, does very important work in promoting safety driving. Organized about two years ago largely through the efforts of Judge Paul Miller and Mr. Warren L. Brown, the commission is composed of Bassick students who drive or who are preparing to obtain licenses.

The J.T.C. is one organization the work of which functions outside the school. With each of the other district high schools and State Trade school, Bassick has a "Flying Squadron" which gives lectures and demonstrations before local organization meetings. Among its activities the Commission sponsors lectures at Bassick by the police and by other authorities interested in accident prevention.

The members this year took a trip to a local automobile showroom, where they were shown the mechanics of their cars. The group is pictured above.

Order of Bassick Secretaries

The Order of Bassick Secretaries has as its members those students in the secretarial curriculum who have received honor grades in their commercial subjects and promotion grades in all their other subjects.

Its objectives are to further interest in the secretarial field through field trips to various local business firms and through forums at which a guest speaker discusses some current business problem.

Each year the O.B.S. sponsors an inter-class contest in which all commercial students are eligible to compete. The contest encourages greater skill and accuracy in the work produced by the students.

Aside from its educational purpose, the club gives several socials annually. This year among social affairs enjoyed were a Christmas party, a Valentine Day party, a Hallowe'en dance, and the annual May Dance. A picnic closed the season's activities.

Miss Lillie Jacob has advised the club this past year.

Story Tellers

As an act of social service a group of girls from Miss Mae E. McNulty's Expression classes have volunteered to tell stories to children of the community. From three-thirty until five o'clock on week-day afternoons and from ten-thirty until noon on Saturdays, these story-tellers may be found in the South End Library entertaining children between the ages of five and thirteen.

The work is entirely voluntary and is a continuation of a similar activity organized last year. Since the group was formed, many hours of the girls' time have been given to inspiring with an interest in good literature, the hundreds of children who have been fortunate enough to be among the eager listeners.

Library Squad

The Library Squad was organized for the promotion of interest in library work and for practical service to the school. Many activities were initiated this year.

Exhibits were set up in the various classrooms in the celebration of Book Week.

At the annual Faculty Tea new books were exhibited in a novel circus setting. Guests were greatly interested in seeing their favorite books, as well as new ones, displayed under a canvas top amidst circus animals and performers. A ring-master pointed out books grouped under the head of Freaks, Zoo, Star Performers, and other unique classifications.

The English, History, and Foreign Language Departments were entertained at teas in the spring.

The work, directed by Miss Nathalie Lamb, is of great social and vocational value to the girls.

Voice Literary Staff

The Bassick Voice literary staff is composed of a number of talented students who have a common interest in journalism. The staff believes that the only way a school paper may be absolutely free is to make its policy as unobtrusive as possible. Thus the staff uses the editorial columns of the Voice to exchange opinions on a wide range of subjects.

Probably the keynote of the Voice and its production is informality. No rules are made concerning style, no definite function assigned. For the past two years the Voice has won the first honor award of the national association of high school papers, the Quill and Scroll; and the staff members frequently are awarded prizes in sectional contests for news judgment, editorial and feature writing, headline and news writing. Under the capable direction of Miss Alice Harrigan, the staff accomplishes all work outside of school hours. The Voice is now published eight times during the school year.

SECOND ROW—Jeanne Toth, Dorothy Mizak, Mr. E. M. Kleinwald, Mildred George, Natalie Hertz, Jean Nicholson, Leonard Albert, Janet Wicht, Elinor Zeluff, Joel Brody, Bert Worthing, James Lesko, John Pfriem, Harriet Fried.

THIRD ROW—Clinton Bergquist, Edward Kasparek, Cornelius O'Leary, James Rescoe.

Voice Business Staff

Directed by Mr. Kleinwald, the Business Staff performs the function of solieiting and finaneing the advertising in the Voice and in the Year Book. A eomparatively young organization, the staff was formed in 1937 and has grown greatly since that time. The membership is restrieted, new members being appointed yearly from the sophomore and junior elasses. Students are selected on a basis of business-effieieney, personality, and enthusiasm.

Wishing not to erowd the copy of the Literary Staff, the Business Staff restriets advertising to an absolute minimum. Most of the spaee is eontraeted for early in the year, and the group then devotes its time to helping produec a superior Year Book.

Through their work on the Staff students gain praetical experienee in the field of business. They make valuable aequaintances among local businessmen and develop taet and efficiency.

Stage Crew

Bassick has received much praise for the almost professional efficiency of its Stage Crew. An indispensable asset to all school affairs, the group, sponsored by Mr. Brown, takes full charge of the auditorium and stage.

The organization is composed largely of boys from the shop classes, who find this work a valuable way to gain practical experience in the maintenance of electrical systems and other equipment.

The efficiency of the Stage Crew is largely due to the fact that it is managed after the manner of a ship, with a mate, a bos'n, and other officers to perform the various functions.

Among the productions which it assisted this year were the Bassick "Brevities," the Senior Play, the Senior Frolic, and numerous concerts and assembly programs.

Scenic Artists

Several talented art students, directed by Mr. Henry Walsh, have been selected to design and execute the interesting scenic effects for our stage presentations. This group was lauded especially for the unusual Hawaiian back-drop used in the 1939 production of the "Brevities".

An elaborate and beautiful set was created for the Senior Play. This introduced an innovation in Bassick stage history; for the first time a balcony and a stairway were included, in the construction of a Spanish house and patio.

The staff was deservedly proud of the results obtained in the casting of a plaster fountain, in which real water sparkled.

Mr. John F. Buckley and students of his Wood Shop classes share equally with the Art Department the credit for executing stage sets. Many hours of patient effort were given by Mr. Buckley and his boys in carrying out the designs of the artists.

The valuable training received and the opportunities for practical applications give this activity real vocational value in the fields of art and of wood-work.

Bassick Forum

If, in the World of Tomorrow, democracy still exists, questions will have to be solved by discussion. With this thought in mind, the Bassick Forum, as successor to the Debating Club, was organized. The Forum hopes by means of debates, town meetings, speakers, and open discussions to train the youth of today, who will be the problem-solvers of tomorrow, in the art of discussing pressing problems.

Topics that have attracted a part of the forty-five members at the semi-monthly meetings are: the faults and virtues of democracy, dictatorships, communism, government ownership, and whether the United States should form an economic or military alliance with Great Britain.

The sponsor of this live, forward-looking club is Mr. Frank McKee. The Forum suffered the loss of its first president, Harvey Friedman, to College Board classes; but he was ably succeeded by the present president, Clyde Fiddler. Ethelyn Carlson is vice president, Helene Jacobs, secretary, and Jack Decker, treasurer.

National Honor Society

With impressive ceremonies, each May a group of high-ranking students is inducted into the Bassick Chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools. They are selected by the faculty for their qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Not more than five per cent of the Junior class or fifteen per cent of the Senior class may be chosen.

The society fosters a greater ambition for scholarship, encourages the rendering of service, develops worthy character, and stimulates outstanding leadership among the student body.

This year the society donated a plaque to be used as the club prize that will be given to the winning team each year in the annual inter-club contest, which in 1939 took the form of a question bee. Proceeds from tickets and from candy sales were presented to the Student Loan Fund at the Induction.

Several social meetings were held at the homes of members, and a picnic attended by members and alumni concluded the season.

Mrs. Natalie Stock is adviser of the club.

Scholarship-Leadership

The coveted Scholarship-Leadership pins are annually awarded by the United Civics Clubs, Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, Civitan, and Exchange, to juniors and seniors who have maintained an eighty per cent average during the past year, and who have received the highest number of votes from faculty and classmates.

These pins are awarded in the fall, on the basis of the students' records of the previous year. Silver pins for juniors must be returned in June; but deserving seniors are awarded permanent possession of gold pins, at graduation.

It is quite possible that among the students thus honored, some boys may be future members of these clubs, and take an active part in civic progress.

Girls' Athletic Leaders

Once again the G.A.L. has experienced a year of happy activity under the direction of Mrs. Edith F. Paetsch. The purpose of this organization is to cooperate with the Department of Physical Education in the promotion of athletic and social activities for all, and to foster ideals of good sportsmanship.

Any girl in Bassick is eligible for membership in this group if she receives a grade of 90 in Physical Education or if she has obtained 50 points for her athletic activities. In order to receive her numerals a girl must earn 75 points in one year; for her letter, 150 points. At present the G.A.L. has eighty-two members.

Among successful functions held during the past season were the Benefit Dance for Larry O'Day, Co-Recreational Play-Day, Basketball Play Day, and Spring Dance.

Bassick is one of the leaders in the co-recreational play day movement. The event this year was conducted for the State Physical Education Association.

FRONT ROW—Virginia Topolski, Margaret Kiely, Ruth Rothenberg, Captain; Shirley Gross, Edith Carlson.

SECOND ROW—Jean Hughes, Ethel Sakowitz, Loretta Muldoon, Benita Miller, Elinor Zeluff, Manager; Dorothy Anger, Edith Barney, Shirley Curtiss, Ida Fritz.

Soccer

Although basketball tops the list as favorite sport, soccer and volley ball are also played with great enthusiasm.

The soccer games, under the leadership of Elinor Zeluff, are played in the fall and held in the school yard. The well-organized class teams revealed many champion players this year.

The teams were as follows:

Senior Teams: Blue—Martha Choate, Captain; Mildred George, Emma De Pledge, Jean Roberts, and Della Dirsa.

Yellow—Bernice Randall, Captain; Margaret Hamm, Marjorie Bowen, and Margaret Uhdal.

The Senior Blue team defeated the Yellow team—4–0, 2–1.

The Juniors defeated the Sophomores—2–0, 3–0.

The Junior team defeated the Senior Blues—3–2, 6–1, 0–6.

The Juniors finished the tournament as school champions.

Volley Ball

After many a tight game the volleyball championship was captured by the junior team captained by Shirley Curtiss.

In the 1939 volleyball program each class was represented by two teams. The aggregation dropping two out of three games was eliminated.

The tournament opened with Sylvia Miller's sophomores being vanquished by Shirley Curtiss's junior team. Following this Ruth Zeluff, pacing a senior outfit, went down to defeat at the hands of Dorothy Anger's junior team. Shirley Curtiss and her junior team kept in the running by defeating Cornelia Ratzenberger's senior squad. In the finals the two rival junior teams clashed, with the Curtiss combination emerging victor.

The captains of the various class representative teams were: Sophomores—Sylvia Miller, Hazel Nelson; Juniors—Shirley Curtiss, Dorothy Anger; Seniors—Cornelia Ratzenberger, Ruth Zeluff.

Basketball

The girls of 201, captained by Phyllis Kistner, captured the school basketball championship after a series of hair-raising battles. The senior league consisted of seven teams. In the first round 217 defeated 219; 116 defeated 117; 201 defeated the "X" team. In the next round 214 defeated 217; 201 defeated 116; in the semi-final play off 201 defeated 214 by a score of 16–10. Yvonne Prevot of 214 and Emma DePledge of 201 were high scorers.

The juniors, captained by Jean Hughes, defeated the up and coming sophomores, captained by Hazel Nelson.

The Junior-Senior contest was a free-for-all, every girl fighting to get the ball. At the end of the half the score was 10–18 in favor of the seniors. The final score was 201–24, juniors–13. Each girl on the winning team received fifty points toward her numerals.

Basketball

Bassick High, winner of the Fairfield County League Championship and runner-up in the Connecticut State Tournament, was also successful in winning the New England Championship at Springfield, Massachusetts, by victories over Winslow High School of Maine, Central High School of Bridgeport, and Hope High School of Providence, Rhode Island. However, the Bassick faculty discovered, several days after the New England tournament had been played, that one of the Bassick players was technically ineligible during the tournament. Such being the case, Bassick refused to accept the trophy cup awarded to the school as the winner of the tournament, even though the Connecticut rule by which the Bassick player became ineligible is not in effect in many other states which have improved their eligibility rules.

There was no doubt in the minds of those persons who followed the team throughout the season that the Bassick team, with or without any one of the six first string players, was in the top ranks of New England teams this year.

Swimming

Ken Kost, brilliant sophomore backstroke star, brought to Bassick its only genuine aquatic recognition of the 1939 season by virtue of his triumph in the thirteenth annual Connecticut State Interscholastic swimming tournament in the Yale pool, New Haven. Coach Harry Lyon also entered in the competition his crack one-hundred-fifty-yard medley team, which took a fourth in very fast company.

During the short regular season of four meets, Bassick trimmed Manchester High School, 47 to 28, at the local Y.M.C.A. pool for its lone win of the year and placed second to Hartford Public High over Central in a triangular meet at the Bridgeport Y.M.C.A. The team lost decisively to the Harding Presidents in the Orcutt Boy's Club pool, to the tune of 48 to 27, and also to Crosby High School Waterbury by a 47-25 margin.

Football

Under floodlights in Danbury's Lee Stadium Bassick's 1938 grid season got off to a sluggish start as the Lions bowed to Danbury High School, 6–0.

Bassick's power would not be denied, however, as behind beautiful blocking Larry O'Day led the Green and White to its initial win of the year over strong New London Bulkeley at Schwarz Field, 20–0.

The Lions successfully started on the first leg of their quest for the city crown by edging a stubborn Central club, 13–6, only to have all their hopes crushed as Harding smothered a fighting Bassick aggregation, 19–0.

In quick succession the Harrington-coached combine went on to victory against Hartford Public, 19–18, but were held to a scoreless tie at Norwalk when the Lion power was held in check.

For the third straight year Bassick was unable to convert potential power into victory as Fairfield won the Turkey Day classic, 13–6.

Bassick won four, lost three, and tied one.

Tennis

As the curtain was rung up on the second Bassiek season of varsity tennis, the team captained by capable Bill Seiring took to the courts with not one potential brilliant in the line-up. Faced with a stiff fifteen-game schedule, the Lions netmen got right down to business and volleyed and smashed their way through the first five matches without a single loss.

Inclement weather canceled six contests, and of the remaining nine the Green and White tennis team was turned back in only two. The squad under the coaching wing of Mr. Charles Carr rolled up a total of twenty-nine points to their opponents' seventeen, in taking the seven matches.

SECOND ROW—H. F. Harrington, Coach; William Skerritt, Clifford Ingham, Joseph Farrell, Jack McCabe, Joseph Ritzul, H. S. Lyon.

Baseball

To John Maloney goes the honor of being captain of the first Bassick team to win a championship over Harding and Central. Despite a season which started off with losses to Norwalk, Greenwich, Danbury, and Fairfield, wins over Stratford, Central, Harding, and Fairfield in the second round gave to the school a cause to celebrate. No team defeated the Lions twice, and six of the last seven games fell before the Bassick battery. In the state tournament the Green and White paired with Naugatuck and was defeated, 7 to 3. Naugatuck went through to win the Connecticut championship.

George Kermode was elected captain for the 1939 season; and while Kermode and Ingham are the only holdovers, Coach Harrington's hopes are high to retain the city championship for Bassick.

Bassick Chorus

This group of one hundred and thirty members supplies all the vocal music for Bassick activities. For the most part selections are taken from the works of the masters. Appreciation of what constitutes fine music is developed and leads to enjoyment all through life.

The chorus has participated in the following activities this year: the "Brevities", an all-music Christmas Assembly, the Inter-High School Jamboree at Warren Harding, the Annual Bassick Concert, a WICC Broadcast, a State Festival at Greenwich, an Inter-High School Concert, the Spring Conference of Connecticut Vocational Guidance Association of which Miss Gallahue was chairman, and the two evening graduation exercises.

Miss Cora Purviance ably directs the chorus.

Chess Club

The Bassick High School Chess Club entered its fifth year with fifty-eight students answering the call for membership. About half of these had never played the game before. With the help of last year's team a round robin tournament was run, which resulted in eight team members. As the season progressed, eight additional players were developed, raised the total to sixteen.

Starting with a trip to Portchester on November 2, the team played twenty matches, the season ending April 21. An innovation this year was the formation of a Fairfield County League, which arranged the schedule for a majority of the matches. Bassick won the League title and went outside of the League for important games with Loomis Institute in Windsor, Hillhouse High School in New Haven, and Weaver High School in Hartford, who were also leaders in their districts. Three losses in twenty games marred a perfect record.

Italian Club

Eager to make a study of Italian culture as represented in traditional folk songs, dances, costumes, and folk lore, this active club meets with Miss Mary Colonnese three times a month.

The group is open to all members of classes in Italian and to others interested in this field of study and of social activities.

This year the club's numerous events have included: a reception for new members, with an illustrated travelogue about Italy; a Christmas party for students and parents; an International Night at the First Presbyterian Church, where songs and dances were given; a tri-high school Carnevale attended by more than two thousand parents and friends, with the students taking part in songs, in the dance Tarantella, and in giving an explanation of the origin and meaning of Carnevale; and a card party and entertainment in February. On May 2 the year was climaxed by a trip to the New York World's Fair.

An appreciation of the contributions of other nations to our present civilization should surely guide the youth of today in maintaining America's ideals of peace among nations in the World of Tomorrow.

Le Cercle Francais

This club, sponsored by Miss Margaret P. Dougal, meets once a month to study the French people, their culture, and their music. Playlets based on incidents in French history are given by groups of members, and guest speakers are invited to lecture in French.

Students of French 3 and 4 are eligible, as are those earning honors in French 2.

A Christmas party was held in December, with dancing, singing of carols, and refreshments. A trip to New York and a picnic were the main social affairs of the year.

Junior Classical League

This newly organized club was formed under the directions of Miss Nonie Brennan. Students of Latin 3 and 4 and seniors taking Latin 2 are eligible. The club meets once a month.

Its programs are designed not only to entertain the members but also to illustrate to them how a knowledge of the classics may be useful now and in future life. League members come to realize the debt we owe to ancient civilizations for providing a foundation for modern art, science, literature, philosophy, and religion. Knowledge of past nations may help us to understand and deal with other countries today.

The motto of the club is "Pergo Perago",—"I improve as I go."

Junior Tea

Amid the class colors of blue and white in candles and flowers the Junior girls entertained their mothers and the faculty at an informal tea on January 18, 1939. The mothers had an opportunity to meet the teachers socially in the Home Science rooms, which the girls had decorated attractively.

Delicious little cakes and candies were served by Junior girls, who showed promise of making very gracious hostesses in the future.

The tea was considered a great success by all who attended, and the girls eagerly look forward to an even happier occasion in their Senior year.

Senior Tea

Heralding the coming of spring, amongst golden daffodils the girls of the Senior Class happily welcomed their mothers and faculty friends at tea on March 17, 1939.

The guests entered rooms 17 and 19 through the corridor amazingly transformed by means of rugs, flowering plants, soft chairs, and lighted lamps, into a "Peacock Alley." Each visitor received a tiny card bearing her name, to be worn as an informal means of introduction.

One of the novel features of the decorating scheme was a large poster, on which was depicted the figure of a girl garbed in attractive real fabrics; this was an interesting contribution from the Art Department.

Always one of the gayest events of Senior year, the annual Mothers' Tea will be remembered with joy.

Dramatic Club

The Dramatic Club of Bassick is one of the most active school organizations. It presents three assemblies, by sophomore, junior, and senior groups.

An interest in theatricals is developed by this club, and from it may come future members of little theatre movements or even the legitimate stage. The club fosters any dramatic ability shown by its members and increases a sincere interest in the finer side of dramatic art.

Ushers' Guild

All junior and senior girls who receive first honors are appointed to serve as members of the Ushers' Guild. This group offers a valuable service to the school in taking charge of the seating of audiences attending such evening productions as the Senior Play, the "Bassick Brevities", the Spring Concert, and other entertainments. Dean Mary J. Gallahue sponsors the Guild.

The girls feel that they, too, benefit by the experience they gain in this activity. The poise they acquire from practice in meeting the public proves an asset in future social and business contacts.

SEATED—Alice Cohen, Ruth Berger, Gertrude Mendell, Vera Hansen, Harriett Stone, Thelma Cederbaum, Norma Marai.

Make-Up Club

Brown-skinned Hawaiians, weather-beaten police officers, harassed parents, and "sweet young things" were among the various types made up by the club for school productions of the past year.

This organization, composed of students who are artistically inclined and theater-minded, renders valuable service to stage presentations at Bassick. The work is directed by Miss Mary Nichols.

This year, after the major productions, "Brevities" and "Growing Pains", had passed into history, the club focused attention on experimenting in clay modeling.

Students engaging in this work may, quite probably, find happy activity in amateur theatricals such as the Little Theater League, or might possibly become interested professionally.

FIRST ROW, seated—Muriel Morrell, Terry McIntyre; Jack Riling, Brian; Martha Choate, Prudence; Ralph Parker, George McIntyre; Bob Ogren, Omar; Gertrude Myers, Jane; Beatrice Hawley, Mrs. McIntyre; Bernard Hausman, Professor McIntyre; Helen Abbott, Patty.

THIRD ROW, standing—Margaret Rice, Miriam; Edward O'Hara, Hal; Hortense Massey, Guest; Eugene Moskowitz, Guest.

Senior Play

With a talented cast and with scenery an exact replica of the Broadway production, what play could be anything but successful? Given these assets, the Senior Play, Growing Pains by Aurania Rouverol, proved a huge success.

As its name suggests, "Growing Pains" is the story of adolescence, its laughter and heart-breaks. To George McIntyre this stage of life reveals itself as a time when girls should be noticed and sought after. To his younger sister, Terry, life unfolds as a period when a girl must no longer play with boys but must get those inevitable "high-heels" and "crushes." How Professor and Mrs. McIntyre cope with the problems which beset their children forms the plot of this very enjoyable play.

The smart dialogue and fast-moving theme permitted no dull moments, and it was with genuine regret that the audience left this typically American family. An old, yet ever new story is youth's first awakening; and its picturization strikes a sympathetic chord in all.

Bassick Brevities of 1939

Pictured above is an effective scene from the "Bassick Brevities of 1939". The three-act variety show was presented by talented students under the direction of Miss Cora Purviance, Mrs. Edith F. Paetsch and Miss Mae McNulty, with the assistance of Dean Mary J. Gallahue and many other members of the faculty. Miss Nichols, Mr. Walsh, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Buckley, with members of the Make-up Squad, Art Department, Stage Crew, and Wood Shop gave generously of their time to the production. The cast of principals, dancers, and chorus are too numerous to list.

Between acts short skits humorously depicting the problems of modern youth were given. With Mutiny in the Nursery as its theme song, the act, By Day, showed how the old nursery rhymes have been converted into swing tunes. Dance Interlude represented the evolution of the dance, from the old-fashioned Polka to the current favorite, the Lambeth Walk. By Night transported the spectators to the most romantic of all isles, beautiful Hawaii, with a group of hula dancers swaying to the rhythmic strains of native music.

Echoing the hopes of classmates whose thoughts turn to farewells in June, the production closed with a rendition of the lovely song, "It's Time to Say Aloha"—till we meet again!

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1939, Bassick High School, City of Bridgeport, County of Fairfield, State of Connecticut, U.S.A., being of sound mind and body, and being about to depart from this institution of higher learning, where we have labored for the past three, four, and in some cases five years, in this, our last will and testament, do hereby dispose of our worldly goods as follows:

First: To our admired principal, Mr. Jeffery, we leave our appreciation for his wise and kind guidance during our years here.

Second: To Miss Kavanah we give our thanks for her constant help and cooperation.

Third: To Miss Gallahue we leave our sincere gratitude for her kind understanding and tireless efforts on our behalf.

Fourth: To Mrs. Altman we leave our heartfelt appreciation for making these past two years at Bassick happy and memorable ones.

Fifth: To the class of 1940 we leave the practically impossible task of equaling our success as leaders of Bassick.

Sixth: To Miss Prageman Mrs. Altman leaves one sadly depleted box of Aspirin tablets to be taken before running any affair.

Seventh: To Miss Cullinan we leave the husky remnants of the football team to inspire her further in the writing of her book, "Brain vs. Brawn."

Eighth: Edward O'Hara's class leadership descends to Orville Hurst in the hope that Orville will do as well as our Eddie.

Ninth: We bequeath to Miss Donnelly a box of chocolate-covered tongue depressors to be served to hungry and ailing athletes at necessary intervals.

Tenth: Lorraine Rowe leaves her charm and ability as a social director to Martha Foster.

Eleventh: To Miss Donahue we leave our best wishes for 1941.

Twelfth: Jack Decker and Robert Factor bequeath Keats, Poe, Nash, and Plato to Joel Brody, who will probably use them to good advantage.

Thirteenth: Ralph Parker's ability to get into or out of trouble goes to anyone who wants the permanent parking place that goes with it.

Fourteenth: To the O.B.S. we leave a picture of George Smith to be used as a source of inspiration to next year's male members of the secretarial course.

Fifteenth: Martha Choate gladly disposes of "Moanin' Low" to any devotee and ardent admirer of Dale Carnegie.

Sixteenth: Don Mackenzie leaves a brand-new unopened copy of "The Rules of the Road" to George Gibson.

Seventeenth: To any three juniors who wish to work twenty-four hours a day Ethelyn Carlson gives her position as efficient secretary of almost everything.

Eighteenth: Gunther Martin gives his weather-beaten "chapeau" to the school to be placed on display in the center lobby.

Nineteenth: To "our" home room we leave one oversized waste basket to be attached to "our" desk to accommodate the overflow of papers left by periods one through six.

Twentieth: Bert Worthing and Eddie Duhigg leaves their omnipresent candid cameras to Joe Keller and assistant.

Twenty-first: We give to the janitors a gallon of perfume to be sprayed liberally ,through the halls whenever chemistry experiments are in progress.

Twenty-second: Frank Ham leaves his cheerleading effervescence to Eddie Kamens so that he can cheer the school to more victories over certain schools.

Twenty-third: The "Tufts People" leave Mr. Cushwa to Messrs. Hurst, Kasparek, and the others who are already showing signs of ambition.

Twenty-fourth: Charles Petrushonis leaves his all-around athletic ability to Jim Phelan to help him lead the football team to new heights.

Twenty-fifth: The slightly erratic trig classes leave their meagre collection of functions to any young scientists who believe in "sines."

Twenty-sixth: The members of the Bassick Forum and the Voice staff present to Clyde Fiddler a silver-lined megaphone to match his ever-present soapbox.

Twenty-seventh: The gym students with three subjects of homework to do leave their well-worn colds and sore feet to the naive under-classmen.

Twenty-eighth: To the athletic fans we leave the advice, learned through sad experience, that in the future, when celebrating victories over certain schools, a little moderation is a beautiful thing.

Signed and sealed this ninth day of June, 1939.

In Planning for Your Further Education
Consider the Possibilities in Pharmacy!

The Connecticut College of Pharmacy

150-154 YORK STREET, NEW HAVEN, CONN.

OFFERS A FOUR-YEAR COURSE
LEADING TO THE DEGREE OF
BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN PHARMACY

The number of High School graduates entering upon the study of Pharmacy in this state is insufficient to supply the normal needs in this profession.

To take the examination for Licensed Pharmacist in Connecticut evidence of graduation from a recognized College of Pharmacy must be shown.

The Connecticut College of Pharmacy is the only college in this state fulfilling these requirements. This school is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, and is also recognized by the Boards of Pharmacy in most of the United States.

In addition to preparation for the practice of pharmacy, the four year course gives a broad scientific training, preparing those who graduate for many related fields of work.

All candidates for admission must be High School graduates. Further information in regard to entrance requirements, tuition, etc., will be sent on application.
